5. Dropping and Adding Courses and Course Withdrawals

After registration, a student may drop or add courses. This should be done prior to the University Office of the Registrar's deadline for dropping or adding of courses as stated in the "UND Schedule of Courses." No course in the School of Law may be dropped or added after the deadline without the written approval of the Dean (or his/her designee) and approval of the instructor in each course.

A student wishing to drop or add a course after registration should obtain a Registration Action Form from the Office of Student Life. The form is to be completed by the student and returned to the Office of Student Life. Faculty signatures will be required for all course changes after general or course-specific deadlines. The Office of Student Life will forward the form to the University Office of the Registrar. Withdrawal from a course will be indicated on a student's transcript by a "W."

This procedure also applies to changing registration in a course from credit to audit, or vice versa; and from graded to ungraded, or vice versa.
